

The company

Located in the heart of Val di Cecina, a historical territory for etruscan, romans and medieval times, the company has been property of the Castaldi family since 1950.

Montecastelli PGI appellation is rather recent (2006) that includes our vast territory of Pomarance and Castelnuovo val di Cecina: the famously called "Geothermal territory".

This appellation is dedicated to our dear friend Marco Marini for his work to the region of val di Cecina, particularly his village Montecastelli and its wine. Every summer there are magnificent concerts at his exclusive auditorium managed by Phillip Bonhoeffer, heart surgeon and lutist.

We believe in our land's heritage and values thus working to preserve for future generations.

We respect the environment that grandly hosts us, environment made of gentle hills and old medieval style villages.

It's been 13 years since we started to grow our small vineyard facing North East on a clay, sandy, saline and mineral soil. Each row has chestnut poles, a rose bush at the beginning and a breath-taking view with Volterra standing out.

All our plants are biologically grown and our wine produced exclusively with our grapes.
